The Parable of the White Path and the Teachings of Ohigan

During the Ohigan season, many Buddhist temples share the parable of the "Two Rivers and the White Path" (Nigabyakudō). This story, originally taught by the Chinese master Shandao during the Tang Dynasty, symbolizes the Calling voice of Amida Buddha and the path leading beyond the world of delusion to the Pure Land. Let's explore the meaning of this teaching in connection with the Ohigan observance.

The Parable of the Two Rivers and the White Path

A traveler walking through a vast wilderness suddenly finds himself pursued by robbers and wild beasts. Fleeing in fear, he comes across two great rivers that block his path. One is a river of raging fire (symbolizing the flames of worldly desires), and the other is a river of violent waves (representing greed and anger). Crossing either river seems impossible, and death appears inevitable.

Between these two perilous rivers, however, stretches a single narrow White Path. Although the fire and water threaten from both sides, the path offers a way to safety. Overwhelmed by fear, the traveler hesitates, unable to move forward.

At that moment, a voice calls from behind: "Do not hesitate—go forward!" This is the voice of Shakyamuni Buddha. At the same time, from the other side, a voice reassures him: "If you follow this path, you will surely find refuge." This is the compassionate call of Amida Buddha. Trusting in these words, the traveler gathers his courage, steps onto the White Path, and successfully reaches the Pure Land.

Ohigan and the White Path

Ohigan is a time to reflect on the journey from this shore of suffering and confusion (shigan) to the other shore of enlightenment (higan). In Jodo Shinshu, it is particularly regarded as a period to deeply appreciate the boundless compassion of Amida Buddha and the assurance of spiritual liberation.

The parable of the Two Rivers and the White Path perfectly illustrates the significance of Ohigan. In our daily lives, we are often swept away by worldly desires, anger, and confusion, much like the raging fire and water in the story. Obstacles and temptations abound, making it difficult to stay on the path to peace. Yet, even in the midst of such struggles, the great compassion and guidance of Amida Buddha provide a way forward—a path leading us to the Pure Land.

The Courage to Walk the White Path

The most crucial step taken by the traveler in the parable was to trust and move forward. By believing in the call of Amida Buddha, he was able to overcome his fears and reach the shore of awakening.

The Ohigan season is an opportunity for us to reflect on our own path in life and to listen closely to the teachings of the Buddha. No matter how many challenges we face, if we place our entrusting heart in the path to the Pure Land, we are always embraced by Amida Buddha's infinite compassion, leading us beyond the world of suffering.

This Ohigan, let us take the message of the White Path to heart and reflect on the direction of our journey. With the compassionate vow of Amida Buddha as our guide, may we walk the path with courage and trust.

Mieko Majima

白い道のたとえとお彼岸の教え

お彼岸の時期になると、多くの仏教寺院で「二河白道」のたとえ話が語られます。このお話は、中国の唐の時代に善導大師によって説かれたもので、阿弥陀さまの呼びかけと、迷いの世界を超えて浄土へと向かう道を表しています。お彼岸の教えとともに、このたとえ話を訪れてみましょう。

二つの川と白い道

あるとき、旅人が荒野を歩いていました。すると、後ろから野獣や盗賊が迫ってきました。必死に逃げると、目の前に二つの大きな川が広がっています。

一つは燃えさかる火の川。「渡れば焼かれてしまう……。」

もう一つは荒れ狂う水の川。「流されてしまう……。」

進むことも戻ることもできず、旅人は立ち尽くしました。すると、火と水の間に一本の白い道が続いているのを見つけました。「この道を行けば助かるかも……？」でも、怖くて動けません。

そのとき、後ろから「恐れず進みなさい！」と励ます声が聞こえました。そして、前を見ると、向こう岸からも声がします。「この道を歩けば、大丈夫！」という安心させてくれる声でした。

旅人はついに勇気を出し、白い道を歩き始めました。不安でしたが、一歩ずつ進み、ついに向こう岸へたどり着きました。

お彼岸と白い道

この「二河白道」のたとえ話は、お彼岸の意味そのものです。私たちは日々、煩惱や怒り、迷いの中で生きています。まるで燃えさかる火の川や、荒れ狂う水の川のように、さまざまな苦しみが行く手をふさぎます。しかし、そんな私たちのために、阿弥陀さまが白い道を示し、「この道を歩めば、必ず浄土へ導く」と誓われているのです。

白い道を歩む勇気

旅人が最も大切な一歩を踏み出したのは、「信じる」ことでした。阿弥陀さまの呼びかけを信じ、恐れながらも歩みを進めたことで、ついに向こう岸へたどり着くことができました。

お彼岸^{ひがん}の時期^{じき}は、自分の歩む^{じぶん}道^{あゆみち}を振り返^{かえ}り、仏^{ほとけ}の教^{おし}えに耳^{みみ}を傾^{かたむ}ける機^き会^{かい}です。どんなに困^{こん}難^{なん}があろうとも、信^{しん}じて進^{すす}めば、必^{かなら}ず阿弥^{あみ}陀^ださまの大慈^{だいじ}悲^ひに包^{つつ}まれ、安^{あん}心^{しん}の世界^{せかい}へと導^{みちび}かれるのです。

The Story of the Two Rivers and the White Path

A long time ago, a traveler was walking through a big grassy field. Suddenly, scary wolves and robbers started chasing him! "Oh no! What should I do?" he thought as he ran as fast as he could. But then, he saw two big rivers in front of him.

One river was full of burning fire. "It's so hot! If I try to cross, I will get burned!"

The other river had huge, rushing waves. "If I fall in, I will be swept away!"

The traveler was too scared to move. But then, he noticed a thin, white path between the fire and water. "Maybe I can walk on this path and be safe...?" But the fire and water were so close, and he was afraid to take even one step.

Just then, he heard a kind voice from behind him. "It's okay! Don't be afraid, just walk on this path."

It sounded just like a father saying, "Trust me, you can do it!"

Then, he heard another voice from the other side of the river.

"Come this way! You will be safe here."

It sounded just like a mother saying, "I'm waiting for you, so don't worry!"

The traveler thought, "If my father and mother are watching over me, I will be okay!"

So, he took a deep breath and stepped onto the white path. His heart was beating fast, but he walked carefully, one step at a time.

Finally, he made it to the other side! He smiled happily and said, "I was scared, but I'm so glad I trusted and kept going!"

Just like the traveler, you are never alone. Someone who loves you is always watching over you, so trust and keep going!

Mieko Majima

March President's Message

We had a very well attended Nirvana Day Service and Shotsuki on February 2nd. Rev. Brian Nagata delivered an inspiring Dharma talk to both the Dharma school students and the adults. It's so exciting to see the youngsters totally engaged in the Dharma message.

There is no update to report on what the assessment will be for our 2025 ministerial service. A CCMAC meeting is scheduled for the end of February.

We will not be having a Fowler BC Food Bazaar at our traditional February time this year. We will evaluate the situation later in the year to make sure we have enough manpower (and womanpower) to put on a successful event.

The hondo roof has been repaired and has eliminated the necessity of having buckets spread throughout the building to catch the leaks. We have had a consultation from BMV Construction on how to proceed in getting our structurally compromised hondo building repaired. Retired civil engineer, Ron Yamabe has also volunteered to help us through the process. We will be meeting with our insurance company soon to also evaluate the situation.

Don't forget that we have our annual Fowler Buddhist Church Fellowship Golf Tournament coming up on April 19th. It will be held at the Ridge Creek Golf Course in Dinuba. Since our food bazaar is in doubt this year, it would be good if everyone could consider supporting this event as our major fundraiser of the year by either signing up as a player, a tee sponsor, raffle prize donor, or golf course or banquet volunteer. Thanks in advance for your support.

It is with extreme gratitude that I announce the receipt of the most generous donation of a stock transfer that is equivalent to $250,000+ to our endowment foundation from the Gordon Uchiyama family. The donation is honoring the Uchiyama Issei and Nisei pioneers of the Fowler Buddhist Church, the George Shunsuke Uchiyama family and the Shigeru Uchiyama family. The Gordon Uchiyama family currently resides in Long Beach.

Our March Ohigan and Shotsuki service will be held on March 2nd with Rev. Majima conducting the service and giving the Spring Ohigan dharma message and Rev. Karen giving the Dharma school message. The 2025 Fowler Buddhist Church and Fowler BWA officers will be installed during the service.

The Buddhist Church of Parlier
PRESENTS

Practical Shin Buddhism in Everyday Life

Rev. Dr. Kenji Akahoshi

“Shifting from Please to Thank You”
A contemporary view of Shin reveals
Gratitude leads to a joyful guide to life

Saturday, April 12, 2025, 3:00 p.m.

Join us for a visit from Reverend Dr. Kenji Akahoshi as he delves into the journey everyone is seeking: “How to lead a joyful life through gratitude in our everyday life.” It is this unique perspective of Shin that guides us to recognize that our lives and our awakening are received from the efforts of others. Interdependence reveals we are truly supported by others and this realization results in a response of gratitude. Our gratitude offers a completely different reality, different from the context of prayer or petition for a personal desire. Gratitude becomes the open gate to a vast field of benefits.
